TARIFF CLASSIFICATION RULING

Subheading 2005.51.4040 (HTSUS)

Special Programs

- A: Generalized System of Preferences (GSP).
- J: Andean Trade Preference Act.

GSP REGULATIONS

- General conditions
- Rules for determining origin

Goods must be either:

- Wholly obtained in the beneficiary country (mined, grown, etc); or
- Sufficiently worked or processed there.

Cumulation of origin possible in certain cases

ATPA REGULATIONS

- Must have been produced entirely in a beneficiary country.
- Must have been imported directly from any of the beneficiary countries into the customs territory of the United States.
- If manufactured with materials imported from third countries, said materials must not represent more than 35% of the total value of the product.

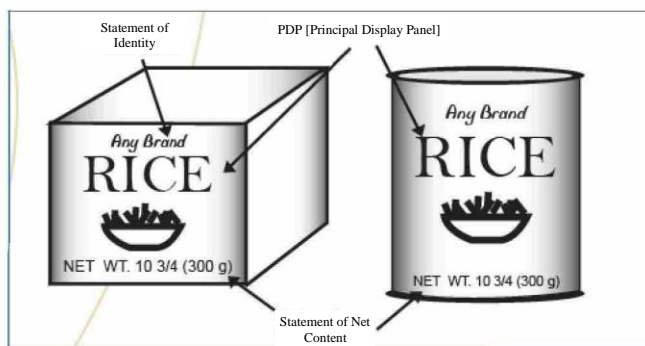

PRODUCT LABELS

There are three government agencies in the United States responsible for enforcing the legal requirements in food labeling. These agencies are:

- Food and Drug Administration (FDA).
- The Food Safety and Inspection Service(FSIS).
- United States Department of Agriculture(USDA).

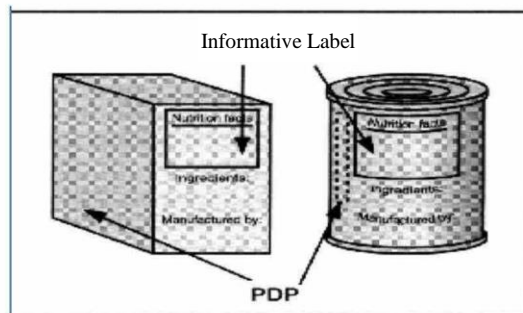

A can of food products normally has at least two distinct areas: A principal label (Main Display Panel - PDP) and an informative label.

In most cases, the PDP is the front of the pack. This is where the FDA requires the product name, Country of Origin and the statement of net product content.

The Informative label usually is placed immediately to the right of the principal Label. Is reserved for:

- The nutrition information.
- The ingredient statement.
- The name and address of manufacturer or packer or distributor plant.
